

ANOTHER TOWN MEETING CALL FOR TAX REAPPRAISAL

Wilmington's Selectmen, Monday night, finally agreed to come to grips with the Assessing Mess.

In a surprise, one hour long executive session, the Selectmen voted to place an article in a Special Town Meeting, to be held on either November 15 or 22, calling for a complete reappraisal of taxable property in the community.

The Selectmen will seek to have funds transferred from some other account, to pay for the reappraisal. It is impossible to vote additional money after the tax rate has been set.

How much the re-appraisal will cost was not known at Monday night's meeting. Last spring, in a special town meeting, there were articles asking for a re-appraisal, and statements made at that time were to the effect that it would cost $40,000, or $10,000.

The Selectmen had been bombarded, over the weekend, by residents of South Wilmington and the Burlington Ave. area, all of whom have had their valuations sharply increased this year, as had been predicted in the Town Crier on Sept. 2nd.

Even as the Selectmen were meeting, disgruntled tax payers were lining up in front of the Assessor's office, to protest their 1965 tax bills, and the increases. In some instances the bills were increased as high as 300% and 400%.

Several neighborhood meetings have already been held.

ARCHITECT'S Conception of the new three building facility, now being erected on the Town Farm, for Polyvinyl Chemicals, Inc. Located near the Town Park bridge, at 970 Main Street, it will be completed in mid 1966.

The 50,000 square foot facility will be basically of one story construction, and will serve as headquarters for the company which is now located in Peabody, with a plant in Holland. Polyvinyl Chemicals supplies basic raw materials - PCI polymer - to the floor polishing, tannery, textile and building construction industries.

Carl Koch & Associates are the architects. In the foreground is the office-laboratory building, next to it the warehousing and packaging building, and in the rear the process building.

Associate Town Counsel

Altman Named

Attorney Alan I. Altman of Wilmington, was named to the post of Associate Town Counsel by the Board of Selectmen, Monday night.

A native of Boston, born May 6, 1926, Mr. Altman is a graduate of Wilmington High School, Tufts, and Boston University.

He was named Associate Town Counsel in accordance with the wish of Town Counsel Phillip Buzzell that his successor be named as soon as possible. Mr. Buzzell will retire on December 31st.

Altman was elected to the post on votes from Selectmen Charles Black, Lloyd Bender and Wavie Drew. Paul Niles voted for the firm of Heminway & Barnes, of which firm Mr. Buzzell is the senior member. Selectman Rene LaRivee voted for Attorney Simon Cutter.

TESTIMONIAL DINNER FOR MRS. WAVIE DREW

State and Federal officials will be among those honoring Mrs. Wavie Drew, Selectman, and Chairman for many years of the Wilmington Town Republican Committee, on October 23rd.

The party will be held at the Moose Hall in North Reading. Indications are that tickets are apt to become very scarce. 500 tickets were printed, and it appears that those who want tickets should act quickly.

Mrs. Joseph Slater, of Grove Avenue, and Mrs. Ruth Kitchener of Aldrich Road are in charge of ticket reservations.

May cooperate

Wilmington & Andover

Wilmington and Andover Selectmen, meeting jointly, in Andover's Town Hall next Tuesday, are to discuss mutual industrial cooperation of the towns, for the area west of Ballardvale Street, between that street and the B & M RR.

Andover's Paul Cronin and Wilmington's Lloyd Bender have been conducting exploratory talks for some weeks.

Andover has a large area zoned for industry, adjacent to the town line. There is a sewer system in the area, within a distance of 500 yards from Wilmington.

RUSSIAN ROULETTE

Wilmington's Selectmen, Monday night, had to face up to the obvious fact that there was trouble in the Assessing Department of the town.

Readers of this paper will recall that a year ago the industrial and business lands of Wilmington were singled out for extra special assessment increases.

Many of the businessmen went to court, but the result was inconclusive. However the court did say in effect that it would listen to more evidence of the same sort - if the situation did occur again. Now, it would seem, it has.

Assessments of land in South Wilmington have been increased sharply this year, and in some cases disastrously. One, for instance, is for 1,000%. Another instance involves a widow lady, who has had the bill on her property jumped $400, a tax increase that she cannot afford.

The Town Crier, last year and this year, predicted that it would happen.

In the case of the businessmen there was an alertness, that led to the court case. The businessmen who were involved went to court before the tax bills had been mailed, seeking relief.

In the case of the citizens of Main Street, Chestnut Street and Burlington Avenue, it cannot be said that they noticed the item in this column, which was printed on September 2nd.

They waited until the tax bills were mailed, and that was too late to act. It is now too late to take the case to the courts, although basically this is just another instance of what happened last year.

The people who have been 'hit' this year can now only apply to the Board of Assessors for an abatement.

If the assessors deny the abatement, the aggrieved taxpayers can carry their case to the Appellate Tax Board. This is an expensive remedy.

The cost of such action will include filing fees, attorney's fees, and presumably the services of an expert appraiser. In some instances it is possible that tax payers may be able to pool their efforts, but it will not be easy.

Last year Wilmington maintained its tax rate at the expense of the businessmen in the community.

This year there was a cut of $1 in the tax rate. It has been at the expense of the people in the south part of town.

Logically, next year, another portion of the town will be 'hit', and then perhaps in a few years the town will have been entirely re-appraised. But this is unfair.

To let some of the businessmen carry more than their share of the burden for several years, and then to let residents of the south part of town carry more than their share, and then another portion, etc., is not dividing the tax burden equitably.

The net effect is similar to knocking down dominoes, and, as Selectman Bender asked: Who is next?

The problem is complicated by the fact that the two officials most responsible for the program as it is being carried out are no longer in this state.

The new TM, Dick Henneberger, has inherited an unenviable position. The situation is not of his making, but he and the Selectmen must find an answer which will stop the game of Russian Roulette.

No argument about it. The best place to buy auto insurance is Bedell Brothers Insurance Agency, Inc.

402 Main St. OLiver 8-9116 Wilmington, Mass.

In addition Henneberger must find a new Principal Assessor, and it will take a brave, and competent man, to step in at this point. It has been noteworthy that there are only two applicants for the position.

It is quite obvious that the town was not having a fair assessment policy, in the past two years.

The solution proposed Monday night, a full and professional appraisal, is the only answer. The Selectmen have asked for a fresh start, and this is the only way to restore public confidence in the town's assessing system.

SENATOR LONG PRESIDES AT WASHINGTON MEETING

Senator James J. Long, a member of the very important Interstate Co-operation Committee, was chosen to preside over a meeting held in Washington D.C. on October 7th and 8th.

He had been so honored because of his wide range of experience and keen insight into the confronting problems. One of his functions was to introduce and coordinate the various speakers.

The Interstate Co-operation Committee was designed to promote good will and a better working relationship among all of the fifty states. Representatives from every state participated in this meeting.

Diamond Ring?

Robin Meads of Main Street is a twelve year old boy with a secret. The secret consists of a diamond ring, maybe. Anyway, it looks like a diamond ring, and Robin is looking for the owner who may have lost it.

Something like a Good Turn, eh Robin?

Smoker?

Martin Zolendick is a relatively new comer to our town. He is an employee of the Monarch Life Insurance Company in Springfield, and he and his lady have bought a home on Marcus Road.

He and his lady, Arlene, gave up smoking, last Thursday. On the spur of the moment!

Will they keep it up? Will they resort to the chocolate box instead? Will Martin end up chewing his fingernails?

Or is he a Man of Iron?

Navy Cook

Dick Henneberger may not know it, but he has a lifelong fan in the person of Dick Storms, local recruiting officer for the US Navy.

Dick lives on Main Street, near St. Dorothy's Church. He started off his career in the Navy as a cook and was for quite a few years cook on a submarine.

Dick Henneberger, too, as most everyone knows by this time, started off his life as a Navy Cook. This was during World War II, when Dick was a very young man.

There is nobody, Storms says, who works as hard as a Navy Cook. Henneberger is Okay, in Storms' book.

Yessir! Storms will tell you that while he is watching the meatloaf in the oven and mashing the potatoes!

The Rev. Otis Maxfield was almost in Wilmington the other day. Merely about fifty or sixty miles away, which is almost nothing nowadays.

Since he left Wilmington about ten years ago Otis has gone far. It is now the Rev. Dr. Otis Maxfield, Senior Minister of the First Community Church in Columbus, Ohio, one of the ten largest Protestant churches in the USA.

Otis came east last weekend, to preach the sermon, in the Congregational Church of Laconia, NH, on the occasion of the installation of Dr. Miller S. Levett as the pastor of that church.

Warrant discussion

LWV meets tonight

The League of Women Voters will hold a warrant night, October 14th, at 8 pm in the home of Mrs. Lauria Wood, 321 Salem Street. Members and prospective members will discuss the 14 articles on the warrant for the Special Town Meeting.

President Mrs. William Hooper who has gathered material regarding the rezoning articles, will present the League's stand on Zoning and invite comments as to its applicability.

A League member who had been sent as a representative to the Regional High School meetings, will answer questions. The complete plans for the new library will also be on display.

The Human Resources Committee will conduct a discussion unit on Wednesday, Oct. 20 at 8 pm, at the home of Mrs. William Hooper, 11 Strout Avenue.

The discussion will center on the extent of poverty and unemployment in the US. Anyone who is interested in joining the League and would like to attend this meeting is welcome.

LYNN OVERCOMES THE WILMINGTON CHARGERS

Lynn remains undefeated in the Northeast Conference Pop Warner Football League after shutting out the Wilmington Chargers 22 to 0, in a game played last Sunday at the High School Field.

The first period was scoreless. Lynn scored twice in the second. Halfway through the period, Paul Welch (Lynn) went 30 yards on a reverse play for the touchdown, and Larry Lewis added the two points. With one minute left, Lynn covered 50 yards in 4 plays and Lewis went over for the TD and the two points.

Neither team scored during the third period.

Lynn, towards the close of the final period, scored on a 25 yard pass from Surette to Welch. Lynn missed the extra points and the final score was 22 to 0.

The Chargers faced a taller and heavier team and were 'out-muscled' but not out played.

The Wilmington Chargers will meet Swampscott, next Sunday, at the High School Field at 1:30 pm.

Letters

October 10, 1965

Dear Larz,

Wryly I read of your scant report indicating that Rep. Cain had voted against the sales tax program of Governor Volpe. That's not all he did.

Last week even a member of the AFL-CIO took a swing at the goings-on at the state house. The official asked the legislators to explain 'why they favored an increase in State Income taxes when proposed by the Democratic controlled Ways and Means Committee, but voted against it as a portion of Gov. Volpe's tax program.'

Guess who one of these Reps. was? Yes sir, Representative Fred F. Cain, that's who. This gentleman, by his title, is supposed to 'represent' the voters of this area. His actions certainly don't seem to do this. This area he represents contains primarily single unit, individually owned homes, yet he is voting against proposals that would lower the real estate tax burden which borders on the verge of confiscatory taxation.

Perhaps if Rep. Cain devoted as much time to conscientious study of the serious tax situation as he did to the acquisition of Doctor Fagan's license plates, we might be better off.

With actions such as these, Mr. Cain and his brethren are fast changing the Democratic PARTY to the Democratic PETTY.

Very truly yours,
William D. MacKinnon, Jr.

Public Library

Fincom says Nix!

The Finance Committee, Monday night, firmly squashed any hopes of a new public library being voted by the Town Meeting on October 25.

The six members present at the Monday night meeting voted unanimously against Article 11, the article which would have the town instruct the Permanent Building Committee to build the proposed $886,400 structure.

Four other articles were given full approval, and one a limited approval.

Two other articles, (Number Five and Number Thirteen) were voted down.

A limited approval was given to Article 1, which would renew the lease of the South School to the Wilmington Skating Club, and add the Wilmington Jaycees to the agreement. The article calls for 'sale or lease'. The Finance Committee approved of 'lease'.

Approval was given to Article 2, proposing to purchase land at the corner of Shawheen Avenue and Hopkins Street, for a new school.

Also approved was Article 4, which would reconvey land near the Glen Road School to Mildred E. Neilson. The land had been conveyed to the town by Mrs. Neilson for the purpose of providing for a pedway, and that which is to be reconveyed is that which will not be used by the town.

The acceptance of Chapter 40A, of the General Laws, proposed by

Dear Larz,

As the evening of Town Meeting approaches, I have felt an increasing concern that there has not been a more critical discussion of vocational education at the high school level because such a discussion is needed before one can reach a decision in regard to the establishment of a separate vocational high school.

There are many educational, social and economic reasons for not providing a separate high school for vocational training.

Among them are (1) the unnecessarily premature commitment to a course of study which may narrow rather than broaden the educational base needed by young people today to make adult decisions about their lives. (2) The loss of relationship between the future professional man, craftsman, manager, leader, salesman and engineer. (3) The expensive duplication of facilities which can and should be shared in a comprehensive high school. (4) The mistaken notion that vocational training is the answer to the drop-out problem.

These are only a few of my thoughts on a separate vocational high school. I hope they start other people thinking.

Mrs. Ronald H. Wolff

the Planning Board (Mrs. McKie's article) was turned down by the Finance Committee. The committee argued that the town should not limit proposals to rezoning to two year periods, as it is impossible to foresee the future.

The Regional Vocational High School (Article 12) got the nod of approval, five to 0, with one member, John Hayward, abstaining. Mr. Hayward felt that he did not have enough knowledge of the subject to cast a ballot.

Voted down unanimously was Article 13, inserted by the Selectmen, which would change the by-laws so as to allow the Selectmen to sell small lots of town owned land to abutting owners, without public auction, now required. It was suggested by Stanley Webber, about a year ago, and has now been wholly adopted by the Selectmen.

The Finance Committee could not see that this article gave the Selectmen any more advantage than a public auction would, and further felt that the townspeople were entitled to a knowledge of all land to be sold, by an advertisement of the proceedings before it happened.

Fred Cain's Bridge, on Nichols Street, over the Boston & Maine Railroad, (Article 14) was approved. The article proposed to construct a bridge, at a cost of about $160,000, forty thousand of which would be appropriated by the town, on bonds.

The Selectmen's Meeting

Three Articles

The Selectmen have three articles, already, for the November town meeting, and expect to have several more, when the warrant is closed, next Monday at 9 pm.

The original purpose of the meeting was to have money appropriated for the Chapter 90 Construction of Burlington Avenue.

Added immediately was an article for the adoption of new Building By Laws. The Building By-

Law committee, headed by Bob Leahy of Woburn Street, finished its work last week, and is now ready for Town Meeting action. A copy of their proposed by-law is in the public library.

And, of course, Monday night's action calling for a re-appraisal of Wilmington will be a third article.

Discussion

In prior discussions on appraising the Selectmen have rarely been in agreement.

But Monday night the Selectmen found themselves in complete unanimity.

Everyone spoke. All agreed that Wilmington had an assessing situation which was a 'mess', and before the executive session they were volubly wishing that they could find a way for immediate action.

Selectman Lloyd Bender read a prepared statement which he had evidently shown to Mrs. Drew before the meeting.

It quoted the Town Accountant as saying that there had been no entries of Betterment Assessments for either street or water improvements for three years, and as a result, the State Auditors, now checking the Town's Books, had to spend an extra three days of work.

Bender also castigated the 1965 appraisals, as shown by the increased values shown in the southern part of Wilmington.

He compared it to the 1964 appraisals, on industrial and business property, and asked:

What happens next year?

The Town Meeting

The question of holding a Special Town Meeting came up earlier during the regular session of the Selectmen's Meeting following the Board's decision to go ahead with the widening of Burlington Avenue.

Niles moved that a Special Town Meeting be held to appropriate the money needed in addition to the available Chapter 90 funds for the widening of Burlington Avenue. Mrs. Drew pointed out that a Special Town Meeting could not be held for the purpose of appropriating money.

The Board's decision to widen Burlington Avenue was unanimous and was made contingent upon the simultaneous installation of sidewalks.

Bender pointed out that there was no point in putting in sidewalks unless the road was widened, for in four or five years they would only have to tear out the sidewalks in order to widen the road. Niles said that Burlington Avenue is operating on a 1908 layout. The Selectmen, he said, have an obligation to the community to modernize the road system.

TM Henneberger said that the Russells, who operate an Andover appraisal firm, had quoted a price of $2,500 for appraising the land takings on Burlington Avenue. He was told by Bender that the Board had set a policy that appraisers inside Wilmington should be consulted first in any appraising work.

Henneberger said that he was not sure he understood the Board's policy on the appraiser and asked Bender to elaborate. Bender said he was concerned about the work being done by the Russells of Andover when there was a qualified assessor here in town. Whenever any appraisal work was being done for the Board of Selectmen, Bender told Henneberger, it was the Board's policy to hire an appraiser here in Wilmington. Bender said that since the Board of Assessors do not work for the Selectmen, it is up to Henneberger whether or not he wants to extend this policy to them.

Henneberger said that the Town had voted $5,000 at the last Annual Town Meeting for appraisal work, and that the funds were available to hire an appraiser for Burlington Avenue. Selectman Black told Henneberger that he hoped he would regard that land takings as a matter of negotiation, and in some cases there would be betterments instead of land damages. Black said that he felt that land taking should not necessarily be a matter of a payment.

Mrs. Drew asked what should be done about Nichols Street. The Board decided to go ahead with an appraisal of the land takings on Nichols Street along with the appraisals on Burlington Avenue.

Appointments

George Wilson of Andover Street, Bob Evans of Ballardvale Street, and James V. DeCarolis of Tewksbury all appeared before the Board with varying requests and petitions. Wilson appeared in a follow up to last week's request that the Selectmen approve his converting his garage at 222 Andover Street into an all-purpose hall.

Wilson presented his plan, which met all the requirements of the state safety code. The Board decided that it was not within their jurisdiction to either approve or disapprove the request. All that was necessary, they told Mr. Wilson, was for him to get a building permit from Minot Anderson, Building Inspector.

In discussing his request, Wilson made reference to the fact that it was necessary for him to act quickly because his property was in the parcel of land which the Planning Board is recommending be rezoned from Industrial to Rural. Wilson stated that he intended to protest the move at the Special Town Meeting, since he had purchased his property specifically for its industrial uses.

Bob Evans appeared before the Board to request that they act in accordance with a long-standing agreement with him to improve Ainsworth Road whenever 'the money or the equipment were available'. Evans said that the dry conditions made this the perfect time to bulldoze off a piece of land that has already been cleared. The Selectmen agreed that they should take some steps toward honoring their agreement with Evans, and said they would check into the availability of funds for renting the necessary equipment to do the bulldozing job.

James V. De Carolis of Tewksbury appeared before the Selectmen to request an amendment to the Warrant article for the land taking at the corner of Shawshen and Hopkins for a future school site.

De Carolis wants to amend the article to refer to the land further back on his property, so that he may keep the land facing on Shawshen Avenue for house lots.

Niles told De Carolis that this was a matter for him to discuss with the Permanent Building Committee. De Carolis replied that he was just there, and that they had sent him to the Selectmen. Black said, 'Why don't we find out about it, and take care of it properly instead of 'passing the buck' from committee to committee?' Niles asked Mrs. Drew to request a report from the PBC. Mrs. Drew said that she would do so, and told De Carolis that she would call him to notify him of the result.

Reading Power Transformer

Austin Rounds and James Miceli, both members of the Planning Board, made an unscheduled appearance before the Board, in their capacity as individual citizens, to protest the method in which the Reading Municipal Light Company is installing a transformer in Wilmington Center.

Rounds told the Board that the Board of Appeals gave Reading Light permission to install the transformer in Wilmington Center providing certain requirements were met. The original plan stipulated, said Rounds, that the transformer would not be over a certain height, that a retaining wall would be installed on Main Street, that a screen of plants would be put in, and that concrete posts would be installed to eliminate the possibility of any vehicle coming in contact with the transformer.

Rounds said that, from what he had observed, none of these conditions were being met. Jim Miceli concurred with Rounds observations, and suggested that a public hearing might be in order.

Niles suggested that the Selectmen get the records of the Board of Appeals and a copy of the Building Permit and find out 'just where we stand on this thing', before inviting in Reading Light and the public. The Board agreed to investigate the state of compliance before taking any further action on the subject.

Anyway, they scored The Methuen game

Wilmington's 1965 football squad took its third defeat of the season last Saturday, from the hands of a more powerful Methuen team. The final score was 16-6.

While not winning any games, the team has yet to play a game in which it did not score.

The team opened strong, but soon ran into heavy opposition which slowed it down.

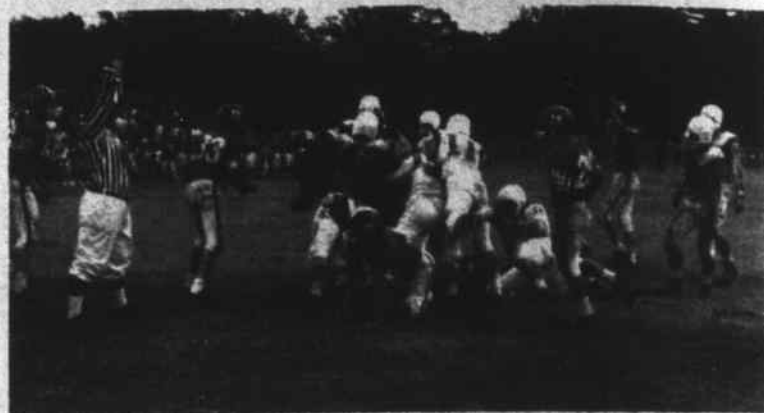

Returning at the end of the half the team looked as though it would get up a head of steam, as as the team tried a passing attack.

But Anderson fumbled the ball, after making a good catch from Arnold, on the 40 yard line, and running it back 15 yards.

Wilmington's big moments came in the last quarter. Twice the team marched and passed down the field. The first time the ball was put over the line by Kirk Anderson, for the only points scored in the game.

In the second attack, which was ended by the whistle, the ball was only inches from the goal, as the game ended.

(Next Saturday, at Dracut).

CARRYING MORE THAN THE BALL: Kirk Anderson crossed the Methuen goal line with four Methuen players hanging on to him, in the last two minutes of the game, to score Wilmington's only TD

ANDY THE WORKHORSE: Shown here in the third quarter, after having received a 17 yard pass from Arnold, Andy carried the ball for 20 yards, being finally forced offside by Gallagher (73).

SOMEHOW GILLIS RECOVERED: The ball, in this play, seconds before the end of the game. It was fumbled by Wilmington. Methuen players (white helmets) were nearer than any Wilmington player, it seemed, but Eddie Gillis, a freshman, emerged from nowhere, to recover the ball for Wilmington.

OVER SIX POUNDS: James Vosmos of Shady Lane Drive caught this 6 1/4 pound largemouth bass, last week, in Foster's Pond, using a daredevil as bait. It is the second largest bass caught in the pond, of which the Town Crier has heard in recent years.

THEIR VERY FIRST VISITOR: Mr and Mrs Frank Winterton, of Arlington, moved into their new home on Ballardvale Street Sunday afternoon. Less than an hour later they had their first visitors, and it wasn't the Welcome Wagon lady.

Two boys, driving at about 25 mph, skidded, and their car ended up straddling the stonewall, in front of the Winterton home.

Vitale and Tsicoulas had a wonderful time

Felice Vitale of Woburn Street and John Tsicoulas of Marcus Road had a wonderful time, at the Planning Board hearing on rezoning articles, in the High School, last night.

One or the other, or both, spoke on every article.

With the two men and others, most of the articles presented were pulled to shreds, and the meeting at times was reduced to a free-for-all, with a comment from one speaker who was denied permission to talk 'Where are we, in Russia?'

Selectman Rene LaRivee was driven from pillar to post, during the hearing on the Concord Street rezoning. Accusations were leveled against him, and, after claiming a personal privilege, Mr. LaRivee addressed the meeting.

La Rivee said that his neighbors on Concord Street were satisfied with the options that they had concluded with the developer of the proposed parcel in that area.

He further said that he and Mrs LaRivee would remain on Concord Street, and that he had no financial interest or gain from the proposed rezoning; a point that Mr. Vitale had tried to make.

Vitale was mild, on the Avco rezoning question, which was presented by Atty Alan Altman. Vitale commented on the parking of cars by Avco employees on Woburn St. He was told by Altman that the company was providing plenty of space for parking, and that there was no need to park cars on either Woburn or Lowell Streets.

Cars parked outside the Avco property, Altman said, should be tagged. The proposal to accept Chapter 40A was presented by Atty James Banda, of the Planning Board.

He was told by Vitale that the proposal had been voted down by the voters two years ago, and wasn't needed now.

LISTENERS, HENRY: Henry Road is in charge of the world's largest known electrical arc, 10 million watts. It is used in testing Re-Entry conditions for rockets. It uses more electricity than the entire town of Wilmington, and four times as much as Fenway Park's floodlights.

ON BOTH SIDES: Wilmington. Chef Mike Bodnar of Woburn Street and Waitress Kay Mason of Forest Street watch as Wilmington Selectmen and their ladies choose their dinner, at Avco, Sunday.

Avco Corporation's Research & Advanced Development Division observed its tenth birthday, Sunday. An estimated 9,000 people were guests of the company, in Wilmington, Lawrence, and Lowell, as 4,000 employees and their families toured the plants.

Civic leaders present included all of Wilmington's Selectmen, and Town Manager Dick Henneberger. Invited guests also included representatives of the Air Force's Electronic Systems Division at L. G. Hanscom Field, and the North Eastern Regional Operations of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration in Cambridge.

The guests were greeted by E. D. Kenna, Vice President and General Manager.

Mrs. Madelyn McKie of the Planning Board presented the article which proposes to rezone Industrial land in North Wilmington, east of the power transmission lines, back to Rural zoning.

Monte Green of Somerville said that the maps were insufficient, and that there was no proper delineation.

Mr. Green suggested that the zoning should be along property lines. He was told by Mrs. McKie that the zoning in Wilmington was rarely by property lines.

Atty. Roland Wood presented the article which proposes to rezone the Murphy farm, on Ballardvale Street.

Wood told the hearing that the Murphy farm, in Andover, and in Tewksbury, is already zoned for industry, and about half of the part of the farm which is Wilmington is so zoned.

The farm, he said, would become the future site of the Research Development Company, if the Wilmington property was rezoned to industrial. The option, he said, for the purchase of the farm, depended on the rezoning.

A Mr. Crocker, of Crocker Industries, asked if the Planning Board planner, Sam Snow, had approved the proposed rezoning. He was told that Mr. Snow had not been contacted.

The proposal to rezone land between Concord and Park Streets was presented by Atty. Joseph F. Courtney. It was on this article that Mr. Vitale and Mr. Tsicoulas had most to say. They were joined by other residents, mostly from the Gowling Acres and Park Street areas.

Courtney told the meeting that the proposal was for a light office and industrial park, with a buffer zone of 300 feet along Park Street, and 50 feet along the Gowling Acres area. Vehicular traffic, Courtney said, would be sealed off from the Gowling Acres and/or Park Street, with the only entrance being from Concord Street.

The principals, he said, were the Barbo Brothers, and A. J. Tambone.

The Selectmen's Meeting

Park Street Bridge

Niles asked Henneberger to report to the Board on the status of the bridge across Route 93 at Park Street. The bridge, which has no fencing along the sides, has caused mounting anxiety on the part of parents whose children cross the bridge daily on the way to and from school. Henneberger said that progress was not as satisfactory as the Board would like. No action, Henneberger said, has been taken by the State Highway Department to date. Bender recommended that a letter from the Board be sent directly to Francis Sargent, DPW head.

The Selectmen agreed and directed that the letter be sent. Niles suggested that, in the meantime, some more snow fencing be put up, and it was agreed that this should be done immediately.

Assessments

Bender asked Henneberger to report on the status of the search for a new Principal Assessor, and thus initiated the discussion which led the Board into Executive Session. Henneberger said, that, so far, there were only two people who looked good, and that he hadn't completed his interviewing of them yet.

Bender then read a letter from the state auditor on the failure of a former chief assessor to keep current his reports on street and water betterment. Bender said he found himself in the awkward position of defending what he termed an 'erratic' assessment policy, based on a 'divide and conquer' principle. Bender said he had been receiving complaints of some 'rather startling' tax bills on Butters Row and Chestnut Street, the area that had been re-assessed this year.

The partial assessment of the town, Bender said, was not in harmony with Board policy for total re-assessment. He then formally proposed five questions for the Board to answer: (1) What is the present assessment policy? (2) Why has there been a fractional evaluation? (3) What is the schedule for the partial re-evaluation? (4) Why has there been no recommendation for total evaluation? (5) Which area is going to be next?

LaRivee reminded Bender that the Principal Assessor proposed an article for total re-evaluation at the last Annual Town Meeting, and the town voted down the article. The decision to do it over a three-year period, LaRivee said, was a compromise. Niles said that, nevertheless, he felt it to be patently unfair to tax one group in excess of another. 'All we're doing,' Niles said, 'is creating business for the Appellate Tax Board.' LaRivee said that he agreed that the present policy was unfair, but it was by vote of the Town Meeting that the total re-evaluation was turned down. It was argued successfully at the time, LaRivee pointed out, that the Board of Assessors should be able to keep the evaluation current from year to year. Mrs. Drew said that when Wilmington had total evaluation in 1955, there was no stipulation that it must be kept current by the Board of Assessors, but it was recommended that it should be done every 10 years.

Henneberger said that he knew of no hotter issue than assessed valuation, and he hoped that people would be charitable enough not to blame him for the current situation. Bender said that he wanted everyone to be aware that no one is blaming Dick Henneberger. 'I hope', Bender said, 'that Mr. Henneberger can propound a policy to the Board of Assessors that will be equitable.' Henneberger then said that he felt that assessment was a matter which had better be discussed in Executive Session. The Executive Session lasted from 10:15 to 11:15 pm, and resulted in the announcement that the Board would call for a Special Town Meeting to approve a transfer of funds for a total re-evaluation of the whole town.

EMARC

The Board granted permission to the East Middlesex Association for Retarded Children to conduct the Annual Fund Drive from November 15 - 30. Bender commented on the worthiness of the cause and recommended that the Board proclaim an EMARC Week, which they did.

Population

A letter was received from Kevin White, Secretary of the Commonwealth, confirming the population count of the town of Wilmington in the decennial census as being 15,261.

Memorial Shrine

The Board approved a request by St. Thomas Church to move the Memorial Shrine to Veterans located on the proposed site for the new library, and offered any assistance that they might give in the removal of the Shrine.

The meeting adjourned at 10:15 pm to go into Executive Session.
